COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT,-It is designed to tender a complimentary benefit to Mrs. M. A. D. Clifton, the authoress of the play entitled "Right and Wrong."

This beautiful and moral drama, it will be remembered, is the same which attracted such overflowing houses at Washington Hall during last week, the proceeds of which were appropriated to the support of the orphans under the care of the Sisters of St. Joseph in this city. For sometime back Mrs, C, has spared neither time nor pains to make the late entertainment a success, as well as to assist in a most laudable object; and while her expectations have been realized in these respects, her friends feel, however, that a more substantial testimonial is justly due her, and have tendered her a compli-mentary benefit at Washington Hall, on Thursday evening next, when "Right and Wrong" will again be presented with it is proposed to introduce several new and pleasing features not contained in the last. We feel assured that those who were present at the rendition of this allegory last week will not fail to attend again, and those who had not the pleasure of seeing it before, will configure so as to encourage present opportunity to enjoy a splendid treat. See programme of the day.
